Objectives of St. Andrews Presbyterian College

St. Andrews Presbyterian College represents a new venture in Christian higher education. To justify the faith of its founders, St. Andrews must challenge complacency and mediocrity in all of life. It seeks to combine without apology the love of God and the love of learning, the spiritual and the intellectual, and is committed to the pursuit of excellence in its academic, its social and its religious program.

More specifically the objectives of the educational experience provided at St. Andrews are the following:

- (1) A disciplined, informed and inquiring mind, marked by the ability to think clearly and to express ideas effectively.
- (2) A breadth of intellectual sympathy that includes awareness of the major cultural achievements of Western civilization and of the emerging non-Western countries.
- (3) A growing and informed Christian faith that finds expression in genuine commitment to the Church, and in the work to which its graduates are called.
- (4) An intelligent concern for Christian and democratic values in personal relations, and in national and international affairs.
- (5) A desire for continued intellectual, moral and spiritual growth.
- (6) Physical fitness and vitality.

DEDICATION

To one who embodies the necessary qualities for transition,
Who strives to make the philosophy of yesterday applicable for today, but who realizes that today's philosophy must necessarily apply tomorrow, Whose faithfulness to the old and loyalty to the new are interwoven in a beautiful pattern,
Whose didactic dedication to the daily tasks in our school is ever-enduring,
Whose consciousness of the beauty of the world penetrates to all who associate with her,
Who has provided us with uncountable moments of humor, dignity,
wonder, hope, and inspiration—

To
DR. ETHEL B. HANSEN,
Professor of Biology,
we dedicate this

With us go the old traditions . . . climbing the tower, the Highland Fling.

With us go memories . . . the domes, the fellowship of family style living.

With us go dreams . . . some yet unfulfilled, some now realized.

We take these things with us, but we leave new traditions that we helped to create . . . the KNIGHTS, new memories that we nurtured . . . the fling week-ends, and new dreams that you, the future Senior classes, must see continued.

With us goes the past . . . We leave the future to you.

We're still not walking on the water . . . C & C guinea pigs . . .
Christmas wreaths . . . class rings . . . class project—entrance way . . . butter bits . . . But I can't change my major now! Bob Zeh quietly leads us on . . .
Three milestones we have traveled—one last look behind and then we turn around . . . onward and upward to the last and final stretch of the road.

Student Government Association

The St. Andrews Student Association, of which every student is a member, is made up of the groups supporting the various phases of campus life—religious, social, athletic, governmental. The Student Association stimulates responsible Christian citizenship through the active and wise participation of all students in campus life.

The Student Cabinet, with the president of the Association as the presiding officer, provides executive leadership in student government. The Cabinet is made up of the four executive officers of the Student Body, the Presidents of the Honor Court, Inter-dormitory Council, Christian Council, the Student Center Board, and the Intramural Sports Council.

The Senate is the legislative branch of our Student Association. All legislation is initiated here. It is the largest representative group in the Student Association, and its concern revolves around all areas of student welfare. Through committee study and floor debate, issues are brought to the fore and adopted or rejected by responsible students and advisors.

Honor Council

The Honor Council is designated to uphold the good name of the school and to provide a strong environment for good citizens. Members are elected by the entire student body, with each class having an assigned number of representatives. The primary objective is to enable individuals to understand and maintain the high standards of the college.

CHARLES YEARGAN
president

Student Christian Association

president

Besides the usual activities of supper discussions and hymn sings, the Student Christian Association Projects Committee has sponsored a project aiding the mentally retarded in public schools, has done "Peace Corps" work and has sent delegates to the Nineteenth NSCF Ecumenical Quadrennial in Athens, Ohio, during Christmas vacation.

The year began with a special program for the freshmen, featuring Dr. Samuel Hill, Jr. Other projects included the presentation of "Reaction to Chaos," written and directed by Professor McDonald; a Student-Faculty Talent Show emceed by Dean Davenport; the White Gift Service with music by the Women's Chorus; caroling; and a Christmas party for the maintenance and faculty children.

MISS ANDREA BARTON

Sponsored by Orange Hall

December 8, 1963, marked the date of one of the largest social events of the year when, from an array of twenty-four campus beauties, a queen and four runners-up were chosen to reign over the 1964 Lamp and Shield. Midst nervous smiles, anticipation, and the swirl of peau de soie, Miss Andrea Barton and her court were selected on the basis of appearance, presentation, and intelligence. To these girls go the distinction of being the outstanding contestants in the competition for Miss Lamp and Shield.

Homecoming Queen ~ 1963

MISS ELAINE TATE

Sunny skies prevailed and enthusiasm mounted as St. Andrews held its third annual Homecoming festivities. Saturday afternoon featured an intramural football game in which the Blue Team defeated the dorm champions of the University of North Carolina. Miss Elaine Tate, the Homecoming Queen, and her court were introduced during the half-time activities. Alumni and students crowded the campus, seeing old friends and making new ones. The Homecoming dance with Burt Massingale and his Orchestra climaxed the weekend, filling us with many happy memories—memories to linger a lifetime.

Dixie Intercollegiate Athletic Conference

The Dixie Intercollegiate Athletic Conference was organized officially on March 16, 1963, in a meeting at St. Andrews College in Laurinburg, N.C. Six colleges are charter members of this association. These colleges are Charlotte College, College of Charleston, Lynchburg College, Methodist College of Fayetteville, N.C., Wesleyan College and St. Andrews College.

At the organizational meeting, Mr. Rufus Hackney, director of athletics at St. Andrews College, was elected president. Dr. Raymond Bauer, athletic director of athletics at Wesleyan, was named vice president, and Tony Meyers, athletic director of the College of Charleston, was selected as the secretary-treasurer.

The keystone in the constitution of this new athletic conference is that no athlete will be given financial aid not available to other students—in other words, there will be no athletic scholarships.

The Dixie Conference has board of directors made up of the presidents of the member colleges, or a designated representative. Its function is to set policies and establish guidelines.

Sports that will receive major emphasis in this new athletic conference include basketball, baseball, tennis, golf, bowling, soccer, track and cross country. These sports will become conference sports when four of the members field teams in these sports.

Three of the member colleges fielded cross country teams this fall, and Lynchburg College won the first conference cross country championship on November 16, 1964, over the four-mile course at St. Andrews College. St. Andrews and the College of Charleston finished second and third. Methodist College was represented by one runner.

All six members had basketball teams, and the league championship was awarded to St. Andrews. The teams met in a single-elimination tournament on the College of Charleston Court on February 20, 21, 22, 1964.
